GONZALES HEADS 500 MEN

Colima Capital Falls to Troops Formerly Led By Carranza General.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 25.— An army of 4,000 troops, supporters of General Obregon, candidate for the Mexican presidency, today are marching upon Tampico, the important seaport and oil center, about 250 miles northeast of Mexico City, according to reliable reports received here today.

Gomez Joins Paez.

Obregonista agents here have received word that General Gomez, who recently was reported to have revolted from the Carranza government and captured Tuxpan, has joined forces with General Paez, rebel leader in the Tampico district. The combined forces are leading the march upon Tampico, it is reported.

General Gonzales, leading 500 former Carranza troops, is said to be marching from the State of Nuevo Leon with a view to joining Generals Gomez and Paez. Gonzales has an American wife.

General Obregon now is at El Derango, State of Michoacan, on the Guerrero State line, according to reliable authority, and will be prepared early this week to assume active leadership of the rebel army.

Matamoros Threatened.

General Almazan, Obregon supporter, is reported marching to Matamoros. He has sent agents on ahead to buy provisions for his cavalry. Authentic reports state that Matamoros and Monterrey, both important cities, will join the Obregon revolt.

Colima, capital of the State of Colima, has been captured by the revolutionary troops formerly commanded by General Luviano at Morelia, Michoacan, according to reports received here today. Luviano's troops revolted after he was summoned to Mexico City by President Carranza.

CARRANZA'S HOLD ON MEXICO ENDANGERED

With the United States warships Salem and McCawley off the ports of Topolobampo and Mazatlan, where American citizens have appealed to this Government for protection of their lives and property, the revolution in Mexico is reaching such proportions as seriously to threaten the hold of President Carranza on the country, according to reports reaching here today through official channels.

The total of twenty-seven States, five have formally declared for the revolution and are more or less completely under the domination of the adherents of General Alvaro Obregon.
While in ten others the revolt has gained such headway that they are confidently claimed by the leaders of the movement.

Where Rebels Control.

The States of Sonora and Sinaloa are reported to be completely under the military control of the rebels, with the exception of a small section of Southern Sinaloa, including the port of Mazatlan, which General Flores, with a revolutionary army, is endeavoring to take without bloodshed.

The State of Nayarit is under complete control of the Sonora forces, while the States of Michoacan, Jalisco, and Guerrero, it is said, are dominated by former federal forces under competent military commanders who have declared for the Sonora cause.

No intelligence, official or otherwise, has been received from Oaxaca since the revolution broke out. Communication, and in the absence of definitive news, both sides are claiming the territory.

Villa Sides With Rebels.

Gen. Salvador Alvarado, official agent in Washington for the Sonora revolution, announced today that Pancho Villa has dispatched a mes-sary to Governor De La Huerta of Sonora, assuring him that such federal troops as remained in Chihuahua would not be allowed to leave the state for the purpose of invading Sonora, inasmuch as Villa was about to initiate a campaign that would wholly engage their attention.

According to General Alvarado, Villa has assured De La Huerta of his ability to swing not only Chihuahua, but also the State of Durango, to the side of the revolutionists.

The situation in Mexico caused by the rapid spread of the revolution against Carranza and the doubtful loyalty of Americans in all coast towns and cities points, in the opinion of officials here, to the early increase of United States warships in Mexican waters.

Officials are anticipating an inquiry from Carranza as to why warships are being sent to his coast towns, as that would be his next best political card to answer anti-American sentiment. The answer, however, it is stated today, is that the conditions prevail that the Americans on the coast are being threatened.

Every effort is being made by the Government to forestall the movement, and warnings have been sent particularly to the Louisiana State Leprosarium, near New Orleans, to take extra precautions and guard against the escape of lepers there this week.

Senator Ransdell and Congressman James O'Connor of Louisiana have been warned of the plan of lepers in the leprosarium of their State, and they, too, have urged that every effort be made to prevent an escape of lepers from that institution.

John A. Early, the leper who was captured in Washington some years ago and who escaped from the District Quarantine Hospital recently, is said to be the leader of the movement of the lepers to come to Washington. Early now is confined in the Louisiana State Leprosarium. It was at his suggestion that William Centerville, the leper, was taken into the Capitol.

Centerville is said to be an advance agent for the "army of lepers" being mobilized for the march on the Capitol.

It is a matter of speculation just what the police will do should the lepers come here. It is questionable whether they will attempt to stop the lepers from marching into the Capitol to address members of Congress. It is also a matter of speculation just how Picturing herself as an unsophisticated country girl who was betrayed by her uncle, Mrs. Barbara Phillips Staalduynen, of Wausau, Wis., and Chicago, filed suit in the superior court here yesterday for $100,000 damages against the uncle, Peter B. Hovley, wealthy rancher and banker of Imperial Valley.

Hovley is under indictment in the Federal court on a charge of having violated the Mann Act in bringing Mrs. Staalduynen from Chicago to Los Angeles.

Last October she married Ysbrand Staalduynen, but February 1 of this year, when he learned of the alleged trip from Chicago with her uncle, her husband left her, the complaint recited.

As a result she lost her husband and suffered great mental anguish and sorrow, according to the complaint.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 25.— The question whether Erzerum, the big fortress city in Armenia, is to be assigned to that newly created independent state will be referred to President Wilson for decision.

The plan to make Fiume a buffer state has finally been agreed upon after a lengthy discussion. There were many heated conversations with Anton Trumbitch, Jugo Slav foreign minister, before acceptance of the plan.

Robert Underwood Johnson, United States ambassador to Italy, has officially informed the supreme council that he has been detailed to attend and "observe" the conference of premiers.

It was understood that both Italy and Jugo-Slavia have agreed to abide by a plebiscite in all important stands in the Adriatic.

The draft of the memorandum which is to be approved today will also contain assurances that the allies intend to impose no terms upon an enemy country which will be impossible of fulfillment and will reiterate that the allied powers intend to aid in every possible manner the economic readjustment of Germany and re-establishment among the nations of the world.

German Envoy to Have Hearing.

In the capital of Belgium, insepar-ably linked with the zenith and the fall of the German empire, a representative of the German republic will for the first time meet the allied statesmen on an equal footing. If a plan broached at yesterday's session of the supreme council is carried out, Brussels will be the scene of a conference of the powers in the near future, and it is proposed to invite Germany to send a representative to outline exactly how she means to fulfill the reparations clauses of the Versailles treaty.

It is expected Chancellor Mueller will personally undertake this task.
He as premier being equal in rank to Lloyd-George, Millerand and Nitti.
The allies' estimate of the reparations will be sent to Berlin in the meantime.
